

From the Headmaster's Desk

A song for the staying and the going Clive Chan

Arise. Wait still for the sunrise.
Do not fret in the dark.
Haste. Run away as there's no time to waste.
Do not leave any mark.

Cry. There's no need to hold back your tears.
Ignore the scoffers around.
Smile. The liberty to breathe shall lift all your fears.
Your lost freedoms are now found.

Sneer. Turn a blind eye to the acts of the blind.
Do not grieve your heart.
Screech. Shout and back your pals from behind.
Stay close even when you are apart.

Weep. The evil may prevail to let you down.
Keep quiet and contain your fears.
Pray. Stay hopeful for a triumphant return to town.
Condemn the wicked and be all ears.

Absurdity seems never ending, the brave jailed, the timid quieted, memories fade.
Stay alert and guard your mind.
Life seems without anchoring,
new places exhausted, exotic foods tasted, acquaintances made.
Keep exploring and be kind.

Two different choices but the same love and hate,
Best to understand, worst to condescend.
Life is far more than prosperity and fate,
All headed to the same end.

Dear parents,

The hot summer has been relentlessly lingering, but we can finally feel the cool and comforting breeze of autumn. I have made it a point to go for a walk for at least 45 minutes every night after dinner. I've also decided not to take my headsets with me, not listening to music or audio books but simply walking in silence and observing people and things around me. Physical benefits aside, mindful walking helps to clear my mind and calm my heart, which I strongly recommend to you.

Autumn is also a season of farewell. A few of my old pals have chosen to leave the city for good, which is distressing at times. But simply knowing that they are healthy and happy will bring a smile on my face, and my wish for you is the same.

Yours sincerely,

Clive Chan

Students Page October 2022

Welcome to October! We are in our second month of the new school year and many students are beginning to feel the stress of preparing for their end of year exams. Although many people may become unhappy due to stress, did you know that stress can help us become more prepared to take on new challenges and make our lives more exciting? On the bright side, we are now in the autumn season where the humid temperatures have lowered, and it is now cooler. With the clear and blue skies, we can now start to explore the outdoors and enjoy the beauties of nature in Hong Kong in our free time.

I'm a Loch Ness Monster By Jolie Ng (WTE6B/6A)

I was a Loch Ness monster. People called us Nessie too! I was long and thin, usually green with black humps. I had a tail and a snake-like head. I lived in a deep lake in Scotland and I was very shy. I usually ate the dead fish that sank.

I went to a secondary school every day, except weekends. I loved going to school. My classmates or even my teachers asked, 'why is your neck so long?' I would answer them like this, 'when I was small, a classmate that was taller than me at that time sat in front of me and I had to extend my neck to see the blackboard!' I was the tallest in the whole school now. Every time I walked into the school, I needed to duck down to go in. Sometimes, I would visit my best friend, the little mermaid from Denmark through the secret tunnel at weekends.

Grandma told me that people were dangerous. She even said that people wanted to kill us! I didn't know if it was the reason that we were very rare. So I had made a decision to tell the humans not to kill us and even make friends with the humans.
