

A Dining Experience

Eating out at a restaurant is always an exciting experience. The atmosphere, the company, and of course, the food make for a wonderful time. One of the most memorable dining experiences I have had was at a cozy Japanese restaurant called Shianase, located in Tsim Sha Tsui.

The decision to visit Shianase was made on a whim. It was a beautiful Saturday evening. My family and I were tired of eating the same food again and again. So we decided to try something new. We were inspired by the food we saw on Shianase's website, so we commuted there quickly by bus.

Not long after, we finally arrived. As we entered the restaurant, we were greeted by the warm and inviting ambience. The dim lighting, soft music, and the delicious aroma of Japanese spices made me feel fantastic. We were quickly escorted to our table by the friendly staff and checked the menu.

Without hesitation, I ordered two bowls of noodles and some beef and chicken. They arrived faster than I thought and I - took a bite to them. The noodles were soft, the soup was scrumptious, the beef was juicy and the chicken was incredible! I ate like a hungry wolf and finished them within no time.

In conclusion, our experience dining at Shianase was nothing short of delightful. The combination of delectable food, excellent service, and charming ambiance made for a memorable evening. We left the restaurant feeling content and satisfied, eager to return for another culinary adventure. Eating at Shianase was an experience I won't soon forget.

Angus Wong
WTE6A

Are Video Games a Waste of Time?

I am sure that everyone has played video games before. Addiction to video games are common and a serious problem for the world, but some do think that there are lots of benefits for us. In my opinion, video games are not a waste of time.

Firstly, I'd think that video games are made for relaxing and excitement for leisure time. They can help us to relax and take our minds off, ease our worries when we enjoy playing them. It is good for us to relieve stress from our daily life and it is the best way to relieve stress.

Secondly, we can get deeper relationships with family members and friends. Playing games like Mario Kart and Super Smash Bros which bring lots of excitement could make unforgettable memories. We can maintain a happy atmosphere and support each other for winning the game.

Moreover, video games enhance our creative and imagination. Some video games may require some math skills to earn a profit or not to be 'game over'. This training is definitely good for our future, or even in work.

Lastly, we can make more friends by playing online video games. It is easy for us to make new friends as we have the same interest — video games. Therefore, we may chat about the playing skills, slowing increasing our confidence to socialise whereas we may get embarrassed by chatting face-to-face.

Although there are so many benefits for playing video game, the most important thing is that we should not play video games too much continuous, in other words, being addicted. We should rest for a while every hour as our eyes may get tired and we may easily get addicted to the game. let's enjoy video games in a proper way!

GAME
OVER

Ng Cheuk Lam Jolie
WTE8

A Cooking Competition

Today, I had a cooking competition against my friend Henry.

I made a cheese nuggets. The ingredients included oil, salt, cheese and the most importantly nuggets.

First, I cut the nuggets in to pieces. Then I put the nuggets inside the oven. When it was cooked, I fried it and paired oil and salt, when the frying was done. I put the cheese on the nuggets and I put them in the oven again and it took one hour. Luckily my friend was making fried chicken and it took one and a half hour. When it was done, I took the nuggets and burned them until they had black spots on the cheese and my cheese nuggets were ready to go!

Then my Parents judged my dish and my Friend's dish. My dish was the first to be picked and I was so nervous that this dish is bad but my parents said 'These nuggets are so delicious'. When they ate my friend's fried chicken and I can't believe what they said 'This fried chicken is so hard! I decided to try it out and my teeth just wobble and when I use a hammer to smash it, the hammer just broke and I was shocked. I said 'How come a fried chicken can break a hammer into pieces?!' So I try it out with a knife and it just bends the knife and said 'huh!?' How can this happen!? And my friend said 'This should not happen!?' So I asked him 'How long do you put it in the oven?' Then he said 'I put it in the fridge instead of an oven because the book teaches me to put it in the fridge.' Then I see a storybook about a magical cook book so I ask him 'Why do you have a story book on your cooking desk?' And he said 'This is a cook book!' But when he came close to the cook book and he saw that it was a story book. And he was shocked that he can't even say a word. So I won the competition and I was so happy that this was my first cooking competition and I just won this but I was tired after I was done cooking and I sat on the sofa and said 'This is my best day ever!'

Justin Wong

WTF4B

How do I help people?

I would give money to charity organisations because I can help the poor people. We should help them because they have no house and are very poor. I will also help my classmate or friend in maths because this is my strongest subject. I also get one-hundred marks very often. I will help the street sleepers. We can give them water and food for them.

Lastly, You can help people too. It is the way to happiness

Ling Yan Ho
WTF4B

I am a tree

I am an apple tree. I am ten years old. I live in Koko Park. I grow apples. I want to play hide-and-seek with my friend because I can change my body to any colour, so he cannot find me out easily and I will win! If I can transform to other things, I like to be a human since humans can do many things other organisms cannot do. I like to talk to my friend as I want to have friends to accompany me.

Nick Tsai
WTE4B

Extinction of my race

"Oh, look a shooting star!" my little cousin said excitedly as he wishes upon it. "That's not a shooting star," my mom responded worriedly, while trying to figure out what the enormous flaming red ball in the sky is. Dad and I were feasting on some plants and berries when we overheard their conversation. Curious, we recognized the flaming red ball as an asteroid and it was crashing into earth. "Everyone seek shelter!" dad shouted. As we ran towards the forest, the asteroid came closer and closer. "Bam!", the asteroid crashed directly on our sleeping site, causing the ground to crack and shake. Nervous, we all braced ourselves. Everyone was shouting in fear when we all fell due to the earthquake's shaking and vibrations. Everything was going down as well, the trees were falling and the mountain's stones were falling. We tried to get back up but could not since the ground was shaking uncontrollably.

Eventually, we got back up after struggling a lot and noticed the impact created a thick grey cloud of dust. "Br, why did it get so breezy all of a sudden?" said my cousin. "I think its because that grey cloud has blocked all the sunlight." I answered. Everyone was freezing but managed to stay alive, but not for long, because a few days later it became even colder so we all froze to death.

YANICE WTE8B
TANG