

I was a dog in a large pet shop, I didn't want anyone to adopt me because I thought I was free in the pet shop. One day, a man wanted to adopt a pet. He looked around the pet shop and said "I want to have a cat but I think this dog is more cute than that cat." And then he pointed at me. I barked at many people who wanted to adopt me but I barked at them because I thought they were not nice. I thought, "This man looks very nice." And he chose me and took me back to his home. That man is nice to me. He always gives me some tasty food to eat and he also takes me to walk outside. The most important thing is he is nice to me. I feel happy with him every day.

Hong Kong used to have successful manufacturing industries such as electronics, textile and garment. However, most of these things are now made in China.

Nowdays, the most important industries in Hong Kong are service industries such as banking and tourism.

I think we should build some skyscrapers and make more touristic stops to attract more tourists to come to Hong Kong. We can also add some traditional food and culture to attract more tourists to come. We can promote local attractions and experience like historical sites, beautiful nature beauty and cultural experiences to attract even more tourists.

The Story of Dogman

In this city, there's a superhero for the animals. Dogman, Labrador, has saved over 100 lives over these recent years. Everyone called it the future star. Dogman gains a lot of popularity since the forest fire.

The forest fire started because of the dry weather and unburnt cigarettes. Dogman set off to save the trapped wild animals. It could fly in the sky, although the air was covered by dusk, dogman could still find out the trapped animals quickly with its sensitive nose and clear eyes.

However, the fire was getting more and more dangerous. Dogman felt unwell and tired because of the toxic chemicals. The moment when dogman nearly fallen to the ground, dogwoman appeared in the sky. She saved both dogman and the injured animal.

When dogman woke up, the fire was over and the wild animals has been rescued successfully. Dogman was grateful and thanked dogwoman for saving their lives. They fell in love quickly and promised to protect the city together since then.

I think the students in my class are very healthy and eating very healthily because in my class nobody is overweight and we do sports every week. In this class the super sports student is Jacky because he does sports everyday. He does four hours of sports every day. In this class, we have two students who eat fast food at least once a week and no student eats fast food more than three times a week. In this class three students eat more meat than vegetables. One student is Jacky. In this class, the average number of hours of physical exercise per week the students do is 11 hours.

The Thief

A thief broke into my house. He wanted to steal money when I was sleeping. I heard the thief's sound and woke up, but I was not scared. I went out from my bedroom. I looked at him. He went to the living room and took money, but he knew I was looking at him. He put down the money and ran away. I was happy because the thief went away.
