

'When I am old'

When I am old, I would like to be a good grandfather. I am 70 years old and have a son. My son is 35 years old and he got married of the age of 28. I got married 38 years ago. My wife died two years ago and I live on my own.

My son sometimes visits me and he will bring his son to me. His son is very cute and he is 6 years old. He has started going to a primary school but my son and his wife need to work so I need to take care of him for a bit of time after school. I often give him some food and play with him. He is very fat so I need to run with him every day. Luckily, I can still run, but I can't run too fast now.

When my son gets unhappy, he finds me and talks with me. I always give him some useful information to help him solve the problems. And he is good to me too; he always gives something to me, such as bread and cake.

At least I have a happy family and they are good to me. We help and take care of one another. I am not the least useful in the family; they let me find my importance in the family, I thank them so much and hope their life will become better.

A funny thing in school!

Today, is our classteacher's birthday. The whole class planned to give him some big surprise.

"I am going to bring a birthday cake!" "I am going to write a Birthday cards!" ... The whole class opoke up loudly. with a happy voice. But, Aiden shouted "Let's give Mr. Lau a bigger surprise! First we pretend that two people are fighting with each other and call Mr. Lau to come quickly. After he has come, we give him our surprise and take all our presents out to give him!" The whole class immediately said OK and Teo and Max pretended to fight, while Haily and I were going to tell the teacher. When the teacher arrived, we immendiate! said "Surprised!" Mr. Lau's face lit up with an immediate big smile and said "Thank you."

"This Birthday is the happiest birthday in my life!" Mr Lau said to us, and we took photos with him too! We had such a wonderful day!

The most special elderly person I know is my lovely grandma. She always cares about me and cook me delicious food for me to eat. She is the most special person that I know.

She cares about me so much, she always don't like me always playing with my phone and tell me I will be easily radiated and easily get blind, so she will take me out for a walk in the country park so I can enjoy some fresh air instead playing with my phone in my house. Also she said enjoy the fresh air as it will make my lungs good and healthy.

On another hand, I failed my English test in my school and I'm scared I will make grandma so disappointed and make her felt im useless but my grandma didn't get disappointed and said, "just do better next time, she also tutored me English because she was really good in her English performance back in her olden days.

Also, when I am really sick, she will boil some hot apple honey green tea for me to drink, she will cook some red rice and boil some hot vegetables so I can recover soon.

So this ~~is my~~ is my grandma, a very loving and caring grandma. I wish I can be her grandson forever!

Shade's face slowly dropped, his head tilted down, disappointed, his wings slowly flutter less and less. He was on his way home when out of nowhere, his ears picked up the sound of a tiger moth nearby. Shade's eyes lit up in gloomy darkness of the night as he began his pursuit of the orange-winged moth. With each passing second, Shade felt himself getting closer to the bug. Suddenly, the air around him went cold, then a colossal shadow loomed over him, shade looked up at the large creature. A bird, Shade thought, as he recalled his mother's teaching. The bird swooped down swiftly and caught the tiger moth in a blink of an eye. Shade could do nothing but watch the feathered creature soar up into the sky with his snack. Dishearted, Shade flew onto a tree and stared at the lifeless night while hanging upside down. As shade rested, he heard an obscure sound, one that he has never heard before. Shade felt the sound of four wings beating, the creature dashing and zipping around in a zigzag pattern, the movement unlike any other creatures Shade has encountered before. Curious, he followed the sound. Under the luminous moonlit sky shade saw it. The creature had a long straight body, two pairs of pinecone shaped wings on each side, two big red eyes that resemble a raspberry. Could it be? No... This can't be real. The bug every bat dreams of catching, a delicacy with a taste like no other. The elusive... Dragonfly
