

Life in eternity

Do you believe there will be a cure for all kinds of cancers in the future? I would say that I do; everything has a cure, including cancers.

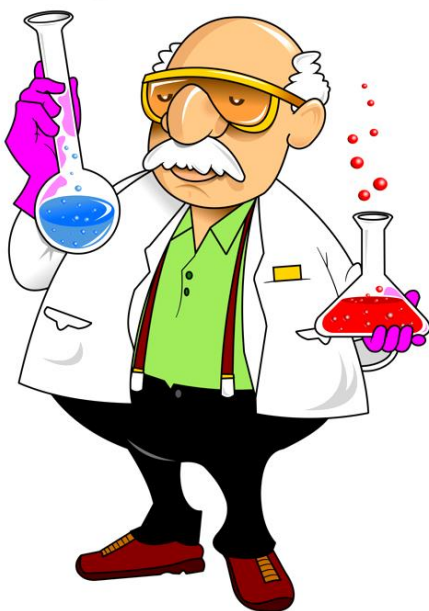

Also, if a scientist accidentally discovered the secret of living in eternity, I would volunteer to participate in the experiment. It is because someone must be used for testing to improve the development of humanity, I want to do some meaningful things to make my life become more interesting.

Next, let's talk about the advantage. I will have infinite time to do anything. I don't need to be scared of time running out. I can put a large amount of time into one activity or skill. For example, I can learn chess for a thousand years. I can get experience in many things.

Then, let's talk about the disadvantage. Firstly, after a long time, the days will become more and more boring because I am repeating the same thing for a very long time. Secondly, because I will need to live so long, I might need to see the death of many friends and family members. The main disadvantage of life in eternity is I will get more and more bored.

In conclusion, life in eternity might let me have a lot of time to do the thing I like, but after the repetition over a long time, I will also get bored. However, it will allow me to experience a new kind of life.

A Machine of What?

I would not touch the thing.

Neither working in factory of pink.

Kings and people use them to write in the past!

My pen makes the colour of the pest.

A pen uses this slimly, dual colour.

Can it ever use oil to replace it, Carlos?

He is in a game, Bendy.

I saw a teacher use it in pending.

Not me, could touch it, unless it leaks, not stay.

Even though you guessed it; it is a poem still!

(Try to guess the answer)

Answer: Ink machine

I am the Queen. I live in <sup>the</sup> Disneyland Castle. In the morning I will eat steak and drink bubble tea. They taste so yummy. After I become a queen, I live a comfortable life. I can call the servants to bring me my gorgeous clothes and when I tell the servants to do something, they must follow my orders. I want to eat with my family and my friends. Under my rule all the children must go to school. I can give money to the poor people. Everyone should get up at six o'clock. I want to be a kind and wise queen because I have a clever little head.

A cat and a tiger

Once upon a time, a wild cat was walking on the forest for finding some rats for lunch. Suddenly, it heard a sound, "Wooooo!" The cat wondered, if it was a tiger? A wolf? Or any meat-hunters? The cat spotted an animal like a tiger. After that, it moved onwards and saw that it was really a tiger that looking at the cat. At that moment, the tiger ran as fast as a flash because it wanted to catch the cat. The cat knew that the tiger will eat it, so it decided to say, "Don't eat me, listen to me first! We are from the same family, I'm a cat and you're a tiger. You couldn't eat me. If you don't eat me, I promise I'll give something for you to eat. Let us be friends!"

At last, the tiger didn't eat the cat, and the cat used its intelligent brain to save its life.
