

Being a bear?

If I can turn into any kind of animal, I will definitely turn myself into a bear.

Bears are interesting animals. They look very adorable when you see them in photos or on television, but it is completely different when it is fighting with other bears or hunting for food. As bears don't really have any threatening enemies, they are usually peaceful in their daily lives, which is why I love them very much. Thus, the natural habitats of bears always have enough prey for food. Having peaceful days and having enough food seem to be a paradise to anyone, doesn't it?

The most interesting reason which makes me want to turn into a bear isn't living peaceful days, but hibernation. For me, I don't think I have enough time to sleep, so hibernation is very absorbing to me. I can't imagine how I would feel after eight months of sleeping. It must be wonderful for people who don't really have enough rest like me.

To sum up, I would like to turn into a bear because this adorable furry creature has a life of peaceful and food with eight months of hibernation.

My Power Drink

I will invent a drink called "Super Power". If you drink it, you will feel that you are very re-energized and powerful. You will feel that you are charged up. Its bottle is like a tiger. It is a soft drink with less sugar. This is invented for students and workers who need to work many hours a day. It has orange, mango, apple and grape flavours. If you put it in a fridge at 0°C, and then you drink it, you will be more powerful. For example, you can run faster and you can move heavier things. However, you cannot drink it in some big races because you cannot pass the urine tests.

The Monster

E-Smart Learning Centre

Today, I went to the forest with my friends. We arrived there at noon, so we sat on the grass and had lunch together.

Suddenly, a monster came; my friends were all afraid and ran back home. They left me alone in the forest.

The monster had three eyes, two mouths, four noses, but no hair. It also had thousands of legs and thousands of hands! SSSCCAAARRRRYYY!

I drew my sword out and stabbed the monster; later the monster died.

I went back home and told my friends. They all cheered for me and I was very happy.

At last, I became a hero of the city. I am the first female hero of the city!

My pet shop

My pet shop is in the clouds. It will be very very big. There is a Sea Place, a Sport Place and a Cute Place.

In the Sea Place, there are turtles, goldfish, starfish and sharks. They all love swimming in the sea. You should buy a big fish tank for them. But the shark is a scary animal; you should not have a bath with it. Don't put your fingers into its mouth. It will bite you!

In the Sports Place, there are dogs, cows and ants. Their bodies are spotted. They like kicking football and doing high jumps. So you should have enough room to let them do that.

In the Cute Place, there are sheep, pigs and hamsters. They are all very cute. Customers will buy them because they are not hard to take care of.

Although they do not really understand why but we will run classes every Sunday.
